

1. Packers

2. Seahawks

- Both websites use simple colors using their teams main color Aswell as white and their accent color. They also use a remarkably similar layout for their landing page displaying news and a Scrolling window with highlights of news. They use a horizontal navigation bar and have everything generally in the same place and alignment having tickets in the top right section of the screen while having the news on the top left.
- Improving on the websites I would change how square everything is. Everything is very sharp to the eye. Borderline bland. Would use more of the main color for the background instead of using white. I would also make it look like the content on the webpage was floating over the background using a shadow effect.

3 colors I want to use
